

Alaskan Command invites senior leaders to
The University of Alaska Fairbanks on 13-15 November 2019 for ALCOM's Arctic Symposium 2019 (AAS19).

The overall objective of AAS19 is:

Orient & advance the network of senior-level defense and security-minded professionals to discuss and discern the current & emerging array of challenges in securing and defending U.S. National Interests in the Arctic region, including the approaches to U.S. sovereign territory.

Registration starts on 30 Aug 2019 via <https://www.arcticdomainawarenesscenter.org>

Questions? Please contact: the Arctic Domain Awareness Center team:

- Executive Director, Randy "Church" Kee, Maj Gen, USAF (Ret) at rakee@alaska.edu
- Senior Research Professional Jason Roe, USCG (Ret) at jtroe2@alaska.edu

Note: Please consider joining a preceding Arctic Domain Security Orientation Executive Seminar (ADSO-ES) conducted by Dr Cam Carlson and his team at the University of Alaska Fairbanks on 12 November! Registration link to follow

Included in the agenda are discussion and field orientations with and between senior leaders in DoD and key leaders across the U.S. interagency and internationally about Arctic security

UNIVERSITY of ALASKA

ARCTIC DOMAIN
AWARENESS CENTER
A DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY CENTER OF EXCELLENCE